Rebellion activists flout ban

EXTINCTION Rebellion activists are continuing protests despite a London-wide ban by police.

The group says it has taken initial steps towards a judicial review of the ban, as lawyers and politicians have also criticised the move.

Meanwhile climate change protesters targeted the Department for Transport and MI5 yesterday morning.

A Government spokesman said protests "should not disrupt people's day-to-day lives".

Extinction Rebellion co-founder Gail Bradbrook was arrested after climbing onto the entrance of the DoT yesterday, as police cleared other protesters outside the building.

Activists were also arrested on Millbank outside MI5's HQ, where a small group had gathered.

Two men briefly sat in the middle of the road before being moved by officers.

UK jobs market 'slowing down'

THE UK jobs market is showing signs of slowing, after a surprise drop in the number of people in work.

The unemployment rate unexpectedly rose to an estimated 3.9% in the June-to-August period from 3.8%, after the number of people in work unexpectedly fell by 56,000, official figures showed.

The Office for National Statistics also said employment growth had "cooled noticeably".

But the unemployment rate is still close to its lowest level for 44 years.

LORDS A-PEEPING!

ALL eyes were on the Queen on Monday as she delivered her Speech in Parliament.

Well, almost all eyes...

For more than a few noble peepers were fastened on this fine filly's cleavage.

BULGARIA FOOTBALL BOSS QUITS OVER RACE SHAME

THE President of Bulgaria's Football Union has resigned over the disgraceful racist abuse of England players.

By ROY DURRIDGE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Bulgaria's Prime Minister Boyko Borissov called for Borislav Mihaylov to quit after the vile scenes in the Euro 2020 qualifier in Sofia.

Monday's match, which England won 6-0, was stopped twice because of racist behaviour by home fans, which included Nazi salutes and monkey chants.

COMPLAINT: Mihaylov

In a statement, the BFU said the move "is a consequence of the recent tensions" but did not mention racism.

Condemned

It said events had created "an environment that is detrimental to Bulgarian football and the Bulgarian Football Union".

It added "Mihaylov expresses his readiness to continue helping in the development of Bulgarian football in every possible way".

Earlier yesterday, the Bulgaria Prime Minister "strongly condemned" the fans' behaviour and called for Mihaylov to resign "immediately".

He added: "After yesterday's shameful loss of the Bulgarian national team, and given the bad results of our football, I ordered to end any relationship with the BFU, including financial, until the withdrawal of Borislav Mihaylov from the post."

VILE ABUSE: Bulgaria fans chant racism

Before the match, Mihaylov had complained to Uefa about "unjust branding" after the build-up to the event was overshadowed by fears England's players could be subjected to abuse.

Mihaylov, a former goalie for Championship side Reading, played three World Cups for Bulgaria and has been member of Uefa's executive committee since 2011.

Uefa president Aleksander Ceferin said the "football family and governments" need to "wage war on the racists" after the abuse of England players.

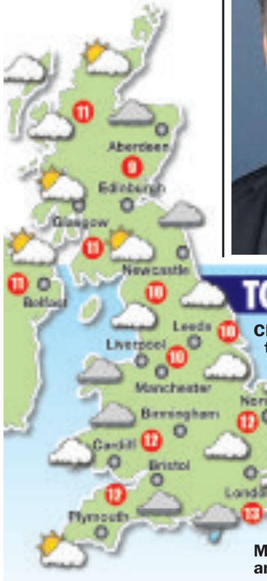
Turkey arms exports halted

THE UK Government is to suspend arms export licences to Turkey amid concerns over its military operation in northern Syria, Downing Street has said.

Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab (above) said the UK would keep its exports to Turkey under "very careful and continual review".

The Turkish offensive, which began last week, aims to push Kurdish-led forces from the border region. Dozens of civilians have been killed in the operation so far, and at least 160,000 have fled the area, say the UN.

The Turkish government wants to create a "safe zone" in the area, where it can resettle as many as two million Syrian refugees currently in Turkey.



TODAY'S WEATHER

CLOUD and rain, heavy at times, will move east across the UK, clearing southeast England early evening. Brighter weather follows, with a few showers over western UK.

Temperatures of 13C in London, 12C in Cardiff, 10C in Manchester, 11C in Belfast and 9C in Edinburgh.

Thursday will be windy with some sunshine and scattered showers.

Temperatures of 15C in London, 15C in Cardiff, 15C in Manchester, 13C in Belfast and 13C in Edinburgh.

DEATH CRASH YANK: I'LL MEET HARRY'S PARENTS

KILLED: Harry

A U.S. diplomat's wife accused of killing British teenager Harry Dunn (left) in a horror crash has admitted she was driving on the wrong side of the road.

American Anne Sacoolas, 42, said she had "no time to react" when the teenager came towards her on his motorbike over a hill.

The mum-of-three said she spoke to the 19-year-old at the scene before comforting her own children, who were in her car, adding she was "terribly, terribly sorry for that tragic mistake".

Sacoolas, the wife of a U.S. intelligence officer, has said she wanted to meet Harry's family to "apologise and take responsibility".

It is understood she has diplomatic immunity from prosecution through her husband, who worked at a US spy base in Northants, although that is being contested.

DEATH DRIVER: Sacoolas

It came as the Dunn family threatened a judicial review in the High Court asking the Foreign Office to hand over all documents about the decision to grant her immunity.

Spokesman Radd Seiger said last night: "We want to conduct an investigation into the FCO's decision."

Outrage at Geordie duo's new car show

Hope Ant isn't driving 😆😆

TELLY favourites Ant and Dec will take viewers on a trip into the hidden world of souped-up street racing for a new show.

But not everyone is happy – and some are fuming that convicted drink-driver Ant is being given a car show.

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The TV presenting duo are behind the BBC Two programme, which sees teams challenged to convert second-hand cars into high-powered racing machines.

Mixed

Street Car Showdown competitors will have just 10 days and a tight budget to compete to become champions.

The idea of the show was conceived by Geordies Ant McPartlin and Declan Donnelly, with a pilot currently in production.

But there was mixed reaction on Twitter.

Vaughan Deakin joked: "I hope Ant isn't driving."

Blue-collar Buddist on a bike raged: "Bad enough that @BBCTwo would even consider a show about illegal street racing in this climate crisis but to have it fronted by convicted drunk driver Ant McPartlin is an insult to vulnerable road users."

Last year, Ant was fined £86,000 and given a 20-month driving ban after pleading guilty to drink driving.

PAUL: I'M AN OLD FART!

TELLY favourite Paul O'Grady has admitted leaving a 'gaseous' trail as he parps while jogging.

Speaking on his own show on Radio 2, he was talking about turning 64 in June this year.

Paul (right) said: "I'd like to say it's not that bad, but it is, it stinks.

"It's when you get off the sofa and you make noises... Oooff – and if you run, bodily functions happen.

"You know what I mean, like gaseous exchanges, which is highly embarrassing."

FBI 'begged Brass Eye Chris to be nice!'

AN FBI official begged satirist Chris Morris not to mock its agents in his new film The Day Shall Come, saying they would be "really sad" if he was "nasty" about them.

The comedian and film-maker (above) was afforded a behind-the-scenes look at the FBI's Los Angeles offices as he researched his new movie.

However, before the 57-year-old was allowed through the doors, he revealed a female official pulled him aside and pleaded with him not to mock them.

Morris, famed for his spoof current affairs show Brass Eye, said of his tour: "If you hang around long enough, you get to see people dicking about.

"You get to hear the nicknames they call each other."

And he was surprised to find FBI agents spent time shooting each other with children's Nerf Guns.

CLAUDIA Schiffer and her film-maker husband Matthew Vaughn have lost a planning dispute with a neighbour who wants to double the size of her cottage on the edge of their country estate.

The catwalk star (above), 49, objected on the grounds that Coldham Hall, their west Suffolk mansion, would be "directly and adversely impacted" by the "oversized" extension.

However, the resident of the cottage, Hanne Pilo, was granted permission by the district council to build a two-storey side and rear extension, and demolish an outbuilding to make way for a garage.

Ms Pilo has three years to carry out the work.

INTERNET TRICKSTERS STOLE MY BOOBS!

Midweek Sport stunna Jess has her pics used by online scammers

HELPLESS: Jess can't prevent criminals nicking her sexy snaps

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

JESSICA Davies is trying to build a new life through blogging and vlogging.

Yet the 26-year-old is facing a continual battle, thanks to con artists who have stolen pictures from her work as a glamour model – when she posed topless for magazines – and used them to create fake identities online.

The hard-to-police crime has become so widespread that it has a name – "catfishing".

Thousands of people report being catfished every year, either by serious criminals or pranksters who steal their photos to use on dating apps or social media profiles.

Jessica, originally from Aberystwyth but now living in Cardiff Bay, used to make up to £1,000 for a topless photo shoot before the decline of so-called ladsmags.

She started work as a full-time blogger /vlogger one year ago and now has 148,000 followers on Instagram – but her saucy photographs are still being used.

She says criminals use her pictures to target vulnerable people – particularly older men looking for relationships.

They don't just use modelling pictures but steal family ones as well, including one of her and her grandad, to give the profile more credibility.

"It's sad because its vulnerable people that they approach and they try and have an online relationship with them," said Jessica.

"I only find out because people have done their research and they find my Instagram and they contact me on there.

Tickets

"There's so many platforms and because I am not on them, I can't really do anything about it. I can't report them because I haven't got an account.

"A gentleman from America sent thousands of pounds to a person thinking he was sending the money to me for flight tickets.

"I think they think they have built this relationship with me.

"It's been happening for years to be honest, I get messages from people on Facebook and Instagram to say that they have found people using my pictures.

"People use different platforms such as Instagram, Tinder, Kik, Hangouts, Plenty of Fish – they are trying to get money out of people by using my pictures."

Jessica believes her identity has been stolen more than 100 times but admits she doesn't know what can be done to stop it from happening.

"It happens on such a large scale. All you need is an email address and you can be whoever you want to be," she said.

"It's out of control."

FLOPPY COCK KILLER GETS 20 YEARS

A HUBBY who admitted killing his wife when she mocked his floppy cock has been jailed for life, with a minimum term of 20 years before parole.

David Pomphret, 51, bludgeoned his wife to death with a crowbar in a "frenzied" attack.

The bespectacled computer expert battered Ann Marie, 49, more than 30 times over the head at the stables where they kept horses near their home in Winwick, Cheshire.

Pomphret then washed the blood off his hands, threw the crowbar in a pond and burned and discarded bloodstained clothes.

He protested his innocence but was "undone" after a speck of blood on his socks – which he failed to get rid of – showed he was present at the crime scene.

He then changed his story, claiming a "special defence" of a temporary loss of control due to his "volatile" wife's behaviour.

He claimed he had suffered 22 years of abuse and violence at his wife's hands and that he had flipped when she mocked his inability to get it up.

But the Barclays Bank IT worker was convicted of murder after a two-week trial at Liverpool Crown Court.

Passing sentence, Judge David Aubrey told Pomphret: "In my judgement, you are an accomplished liar."

‘Rape’ claim girl’s texts over ‘false confession’

A BRITISH teen sent frantic text messages to her friend, begging for help, as she was forced to make a false confession that she lied about a gang rape, a court has heard.

The 19-year-old woman gave evidence yesterday in Cyprus, where she is on trial accused of causing public mischief by allegedly lying about being attacked in a hotel room in Ayia Napa by an Israeli group in July.

She told the judge she was raped but “forced” to retract her statement 10 days later after being interrogated for hours without a lawyer.

She said police told her they had videos which showed she’d had consensual sex.

The woman said she was “crying” because she “didn’t understand what was going on” and, when she asserted her right to a lawyer, was told: “Maybe in the UK, not here.”

A Snapchat message to her friend read in court said: “They’ve honestly made me sign false statements.”

The woman spent four-and-a-half weeks in prison before she was granted bail at the end of August, but cannot leave the island.

She could face a year in jail if found guilty.

The trial continues.

Suspender sales drop in favour of comfy pants

BAD news, fellas – sexy suspenders are on their way OUT!

Fish kettles, cocktail shakers and sussies have fallen out of fashion as Brit shoppers sent sales of luxury loungewear and sports headbands soaring.

In the kitchen, the boom in artisan tonics is behind a drop in sales of cocktail shakers, while middle-class stores like John Lewis said they’ve stopped selling fish kettles entirely as formal dinner parties disappear.

The retailer also removed clutch bags from its own-brand accessories range, and sales of women’s suspenders fell 8% as customers opted for comfortable undies.

Sales of reusable water bottles jumped by 15% in the week before the Glastonbury Festival, which had announced a ban on single-use plastic.

PLUG-IN AIR FRESHENER MADE ME FEEL NURSE’S BUM

DENIAL: Dr Colin Gelder blames plug-in diffuser

Doctor blamed ‘euphoric reaction’

A DOCTOR who groped a nurse claimed he suffered a ‘euphoric’ reaction to a household spray for his pet dogs, a tribunal heard.

Dr Colin Gelder squeezed the woman’s bottom on a hospital ward, claiming herbal fumes from a Pet Remedy plug diffuser had mixed adversely with his hayfever medication and made him “feel like Superman”.

Dirty

The nurse, 55, told the tribunal that the married father-of-two smiled and laughed after touching her, making her “feel dirty and cheap”.

When she told him the only person allowed to touch her bottom was her husband, Gelder replied, “Well, he’s a very lucky man”, then refused to apologise.

Dr Gelder, a Consultant Respiratory Physician at the University Hospital in Coventry, later told another female colleague: “You’re sexy when you are cross.”

The 59-year-old admitted the incidents but blamed his behaviour on inhaling the herb Valerian, which is used in Pet Remedy products to calm dogs when they get anxious.

By ROY DURRIDGE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

He claimed he “would have even groped a man if he had encountered one”.

The nurse, known as Miss A, said: “What he did to me made me feel dirty and cheap, he shouldn’t have done it.

“It’s disgusting. It was very difficult for me but I found the urge to stand up to him. I don’t want to see him again. He didn’t even have the decency to apologise.”

The Medical Practitioners Tribunal Service, held in Manchester, heard the incident occurred in September 2017 while the nurse was doing her morning rounds.

Dr Gelder told the hearing: “My memory of the day is patchy. I had arrived at work at 8am and was experiencing feelings of euphoria.

“My recollection when I spoke to my wife afterwards was that I was very calm.

“I said I had got into some trouble at work and I was excluded and got the sack – it was a very offhand comment.

“I know it was a disgusting thing to do but it’s never happened before. I told the Trust I would happily expose myself to Pet Remedy again to confirm the effects, if they though it would be useful.

“I was absolutely stunned at what happened.

And I absolutely did not pinch her bottom for sexual gratification.”

Gelder, from Leicester, denies sexually motivated misconduct and the hearing continues.

GAZZA: I GET KISSED ALL THE TIME

Star sobs as he denies sexual assault charge

THREE OR FOUR CANS: Paul Gascoigne

EX-ENGLAND footballer Paul Gascoigne broke down in tears as he denied sexually assaulting a woman on a train.

Gascoigne, 52, is accused of “forcefully and sloppily” kissing the woman on a service from York to Newcastle in August 2018.

He told Teesside Crown Court he had wanted to reassure her after overhearing another passenger describe her as “fat and ugly”.

Gascoigne said the kiss was “just a peck” and was not sexual.

The former Newcastle, Tottenham, Middlesbrough Rangers, and Everton star said he was travelling from Birmingham to Newcastle with his nephews on August 20 last year.

He said while passengers were asking for selfies and autographs he heard a man, who he could not see, say about a female passenger: “What do you want a photo of her for? She’s fat and ugly.”

Mr Gascoigne told the jury he previously had trouble with his weight and “automatically” went to sit next to the woman to reassure her.

He said he told her: “You’re not fat and ugly, you’re beautiful.”

A court usher handed him a tissue as he became emotional while giving evidence in the dock.

Earlier, jurors heard how he was in an “intoxicated, drunken state”.

British Transport Police PC Robert Moody told the court that Mr Gascoigne was drinking beer in a hotel lobby when he arrived.

PC Moody said he had spoken to Mr Gascoigne prior to travelling to the hotel, telling jurors Gascoigne had said: “I know what it’s about, I kissed a fat lass.”

The court has heard the former midfielder “forcefully and sloppily” kissed the woman on the lips while drunk on the train and that she was left “shocked and upset”.

In a police interview Mr Gascoigne said he had undergone an operation which made him sick if he drank spirits and that “thousands” of strangers had come up to him and kissed him over the years.

He told officers: “I get kissed all the time, so if that was the case, I have been sexually harassed for 20 years.”

He said he had only consumed “three or four cans” prior to the incident because spirits made him “spew up” following the operation.

Gascoigne, who now lives in Leicester, told investigators: “I’m not a serious guy, I enjoy life. I’ve got myself in trouble down the years.”

The trial continues.

Fury as salon uses golliwog in promotion

A TANNING salon has been slammed for sharing pictures of a "racist" golliwog doll to promote its business.

Shine Tanning Salons in Glasgow repeatedly posted images of the doll, notorious for portraying black people in an offensive manner, on their social media.

One picture showed the doll in a coffee shop with an empty cup alongside the caption "wee black double espresso", with two monkey emojis.

Another image had the doll, which the owner called "Sooty", on a tanning bed.

The salon later apologised for the posts and admitted they were "ill-thought" and "lazy humour".

Jordan Allison, of anti-racism charity Show Racism The Red Card Scotland, said: "We stand with the rest of society who fully condemn these horrid items that serve only as offensive reminders of anti-Black racism."

IN WITH A SHOUT: Dean and Katie Price step out

DEAN Gaffney has reportedly been axed from EastEnders in an under-the-radar move by show bosses.

The actor, 41, who plays long-featuring character Robbie Jackson in the BBC soap, has appeared for the last time already – with Robbie departing for India on learning his son Sami, who is out there, has had an accident.

According to reports last weekend, Dean has been quietly dropped with no big farewell.

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Dean's first appearance on EastEnders was in mid-December 1993 and he appeared consistently until 2004.

The character of Robbie returned in 2010, 2015 and 2017 – after which he remained on the show until recently.

Famous

And nobody can say he didn't make the most of his time as Britain's most-loved loser.

Because the star dicked his way through a swathe of top-flight showbiz fanny.

Dean has been spotted out and about with Britain's most famous models – including Katie Price, Natalie Denning, Alicia Douvall, Michelle Marsh and our very own Linsey Dawn McKenzie.

A pal said: "He's the first to admit he's no Nicholas Parsons, but Dean's had more than his fair share of fanny."

Earlier this year, the actor split from model Rebekah Rose-Ward after three years together.

Rebekah and Dean began dating in 2016, shortly after the Robbie Jackson actor split from Sarah Burge – the mother of his twin daughters.

DERBY STARS DODGE JAIL FOR DRINK DRIVE SMASH

LET OFF: Lawrence and (below) Bennett

DERBY County footballers Tom Lawrence and Mason Bennett have avoided prison sentences after both pleaded guilty to drink-driving and failing to stop at the scene of an accident.

The pair were charged after a Range Rover Sport and Mercedes GLC crashed on the A6 last month.

Midfielder Lawrence, 25, recorded a breath test reading of 58 mgs per 100ml and forward Bennett, 23, a level of 64. The legal limit is 35.

At Derby Magistrates Court District Judge Jonathan Taaffee told the players that, as passengers were in the cars and the defendants left the scene of the crash in the city suburb of Allestree, all options remained open, including a prison sentence.

Instead, each received a 12-month community order and were banned from driving for two years.

They'll also both have to do 180 hours' unpaid work.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Earlier this month, the football club fined the pair the "equivalent of six weeks' wages" and condemned them for bringing the club into disrepute following the "alcohol-related incident" of September 24.

Shock sex toy finds for public

A BAG of sex toys has been found dumped by the side of the road outside a bank.

A shocked member of the public shared a snap of the abandoned toys (above) online, but no-one has yet come forward to claim their missing property.

There were up to 10 vibrators in the stash, along with some "rabbit" devices and various items of ladies' scanty underwear.

And in a similar incident, a dog walker was lost for words after he threw a stick and his pet mutt returned with a huge pink DILDO in its mouth.

Security guard Glen Pinnion, 44, only realised the 8.5in toy was in his dog's mouth when they went past a pub in Leeds on their way home.

Glen said: "There was a group of lads having a drink outside. They started laughing and pointing.

"I had a closer look and realised it wasn't a stick but a great big floppy rubber penis.

"He wouldn't give it up so I broke into a jog to get home quickly."

2031 – a space baby odyssey

BOFFINS say the first baby could be born in space within 12 years.

Dr Egbert Edelbroek, founder and chief exec of SpaceBorn United, said the company is designing missions where pregnant women can give birth while in orbit.

The aim is not currently for the whole pregnancy to take place in space, but instead a 24 to 36hr mission for the labour.

Speaking at the first Space and Science Congress of Asgardia the Space Nation in Darmstadt, Germany, Dr Edelbroek said he thought this would happen by 2031.

Edelbroek added: "This is only possible, for now, in Lower Earth Orbit, and it is only possible thanks to a very thorough selection procedure."

He said the estimate would depend on funding and developments in the space tourism sector.

COP'S TERROR OVER 22-STONE SHOPLIFTER GIRL

'Large' thief nicked from Aldi, B&M and TK Maxx

PROLIFIC: Bates has racked up 159 offences

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A PROLIFIC obese shoplifter who caused a cop to "fear for his safety" has been banned from numerous shops in her hometown.

Rachael Bates, 35, was slapped with a Criminal Behaviour Order after racking up 159 offences, 104 of those for theft, over 18 years.

Bates, of Runcorn, was due to appear at North Cheshire Magistrates' Court – but refused to leave her cell and the hearing went ahead without her.

Legal debate focused on whether theft offences meet the criteria for a CBO, which requires offending to involve persistent behaviour that causes or is likely to cause harassment, alarm or distress, and that imposing the order will help to deter future problem behaviour.

Scissors

Prosecuting, Adam Warner argued that it did and called PC Andy Maskell to give evidence.

PC Maskell said shop staff have had to follow the prolific shoplifter around in store.

Stores she had persistently targeted included Runcorn's Aldi, B&M and a Shell petrol station.

PC Maskell referred to an incident in which Bates actively resisted arrest at TK Maxx at Trident Retail Park in Runcorn on June 11.

The officer "feared for his safety" so he "took her to the floor and handcuffed her".

A search uncovered a pair of scissors in her bag. She was later convicted of having a bladed article in public.

Representing Bates, Iain Waites argued it would be a "dangerous" precedent to imply that Bates' behaviour had caused harassment, alarm or distress.

Mr Waites said: "The vast majority of these offences, I can't see any evidence of her being threatening."

Mr Waites argued the case for the CBO to allow for Bates, who is her father's carer, to do essential shopping and access her methadone prescription.

He said she suffered health issues including depression, obesity and drug dependency.

Magistrates approved the CBO but loosened the prohibitions.

Race triggers 10% rise in hate crime

HATE crimes hit a record high in the last year, with a surge in the number of reported offences triggered by sexual orientation and transgender identity.

Police in England and Wales recorded 103,379 hate crimes in the last 12 months – 10% more than the previous year and more than double the 2012/13 figure.

Part of the increase could reflect a "real rise" in reports of crime, the Home Office said.

Race remained the main trigger in the majority of reported offences (76%).

But there were also jumps in the number of transgender identity hate crimes – up by 37% – and a 25% hike in offences motivated by sexual orientation.

Disability hate crimes rose 14%, with offences triggered by religion up 3%.

SEXY Natalie Pike gives Manchester City fans a treat every week when she hosts a TV show on the club's official TV channel.

But the Stockport beauty keeps her clothes firmly on while talking about Pep Guardiola, David Silva and John Stones.

Which is a shame, because the former High Street Honey winner has an absolutely cracking pair of 34D whoppers on her.

The 35-year-old also presents a radio show on Manchester XS and is a former Miss Scotland.

A pal said: "Those Man City fans don't know what they're missing when they see Natalie on the box!"

NIGHTMARE NEIGHBOUR TOSSED PLOP OVER WALL

CAMPAIGN: Nicholson harassed victim in Corbridge (below)

A WOMAN was left living in fear after a campaign of harassment by her neighbour – which included him throwing a bag of POO into her yard.

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Jennifer Brydie’s life in the upmarket village of Corbridge, Northumberland, has been made a nightmare by Lee Nicholson, for no apparent reason.

The 29-year-old was already subject to two suspended prison sentences for harassing the lady next door when he did it again.

This time she found broken bottles and a cup smashed in her yard, which Nicholson had lobbed over the wall dividing the two properties.

Shattered

She called the police to report that and, while officers were there, a plastic bag containing excrement landed near her back gate.

Newcastle Crown Court heard Miss Brydie feels like a prisoner in her own home and pre-sentence reports said Nicholson poses a risk of re-offending against the victim.

Nicholson, who has mental health problems, admitted harassment and was jailed for eight months – but he will be released immediately as he has served four months on remand.

The court heard Miss Brydie found two shattered bottles in her back yard on the morning of June 9.

Later, while doing some gardening, she found a further broken sauce bottle.

She could see Nicholson pacing up and down the back lane past her gate, holding a coffee mug.

Prosecutor Emma Dowling said: “Around an hour later she was in the rear yard reading when, all of a sudden, a glass item came over the wall from that direction.

“She was too scared to move. She was worried that if she tried to get back into the house, an item would hit her.

“She waited for a few minutes until she couldn’t hear anyone in the rear yard next door and went back into her home address.

“Once she knew it was safe, she went back out to retrieve the broken item from her yard for the police.”

Police were called and Miss Dowling said: “While they were doing their inquiries, an officer saw a white bag appear from next door and it landed at the back gate.

“That bag was found to contain excrement.”

When police opened the gate to Nicholson’s back yard, where the bag had come from, he was standing there.

Best curry house beats 2,000 rivals

BRITAIN’S best curry house has been named as the Hot Chilli in Bolton.

The restaurant beat 2,000 rivals to be named “champion of champions” by the Asian Restaurant and Takeaway Awards of the UK’s Asian food hot spots.

Hot Chilli managed to beat the highest number of entrants ever to take home the biggest prize of the night — the Champion of Champions Award.

The grand prize, given out on Sunday night, is only awarded to the very best of a group of entrants from England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland each year.

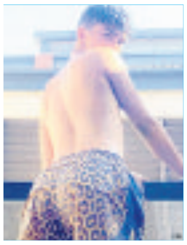
Shek Abul Bashar, of Hot Chilli, said: “Wow – it is an overwhelming honour.”

SHORTS PIC LAD ON NUDITY RAP

A POPULAR social media personality based in Saudi Arabia has been charged with sharing nudity online after posting an image of himself wearing a pair of SHORTS.

Suhail al-Jameel, 23 (below), announced he was facing prison on his Snapchat account after initially posting the picture of himself in leopard print shorts on Twitter.

He told his 170,000 online followers: “I take a photo of myself wearing shorts at the beach and I go to jail for wearing shorts. Then the police change my charges to electronic crimes for sharing photos of nudity.



“How am I nude if I am wearing shorts on a beach?”

The announcement prompted fans of the young social media star to rally for his release.

The announcement came as the ultra-conservative kingdom launched a visa programme allowing more holidaymakers to visit the nation.

PERV SCREAMED AS HE PULLED PUD IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

BERKELEY PUBLIC LIBRARY

YELL OF A TOSSER: Korvah

MASTURBATING in a public library is an activity best conducted discreetly.

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

But randy Jallah I. Korvah never got that memo.

He was first spotted by library staff as he settled down at one of the computer terminals to watch porn and masturbate.

He stayed for a short while but then fled the building.

Threats

When he returned later that day, Korvah again started to masturbate inside the building.

But this time he screamed loudly as he pulled his pud.

And when a disgusted librarian told him to leave, Korvah hit the bespectacled bookworm in the face several times.

As the librarian walked away to phone police in Berkeley, California, Korvah continued masturbating and started approaching surprised library patrons.

Korvah, a 27-year-old transient from Los Angeles, is now facing charges for battery, indecent exposure, lewd conduct and making terrorist threats.

He has numerous prior arrests in the Los Angeles area for illicit drug possession, assaults, battery and trespassing.

Korvah remains in custody in Santa Rita Jail while he awaits trial.

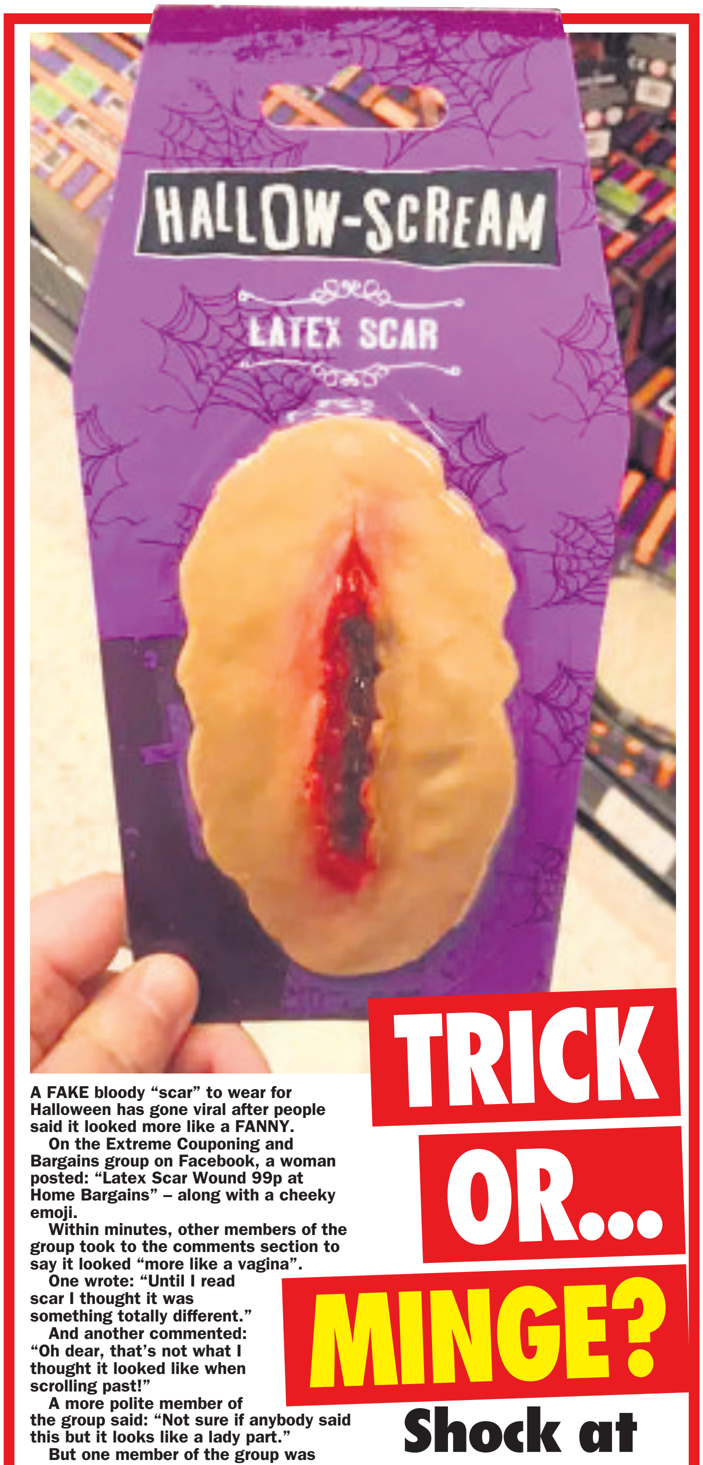
Shock at Halloween play scar



A FAKE bloody "scar" to wear for Halloween has gone viral after people said it looked more like a FANNY.

On the Extreme Couponing and Bargains group on Facebook, a woman posted: "Latex Scar Wound 99p at Home Bargains" – along with a cheeky emoji.

Within minutes, other members of the group took to the comments section to say it looked "more like a vagina".

One wrote: "Until I read scar I thought it was something totally different."

And another commented: "Oh dear, that's not what I thought it looked like when scrolling past!"

A more polite member of the group said: "Not sure if anybody said this but it looks like a lady part."

But one member of the group was disgusted and said it should be "removed off the shelves".

She wrote: "Disgusting! It should be removed from the shelves.

"Young kiddies just think its a deep wound but adults know what it looks like."

'How dare you say I am NOT a hooker!

FUMING Rachel Moran is suing another woman – for saying she is NOT a SEX WORKER!

Ms Moran is trying to stop former hooker Gaye Dalton from posting "further alleged defamatory statements" about her online.

And those statements, Judge John O'Connor heard in Dublin's Circuit Civil Court, include the claim that Ms Moran did NOT sell sex to strangers.

Barrister Andrew Walker said Ms Moran had been left in a state of distress after online allegations by Ms Dalton that she was "a fraud and a liar" by claiming she'd been a prostitute.

Mr Walker told the court Ms Moran had written a memoir in 2013 detailing her time as a teenage sex worker in the 1990s.

Moran appeared on TV channel RTÉ's Late Late Show with Ryan Tubridy last year.

Mr Walker said that around this time Ms Dalton had begun publishing defamatory blog posts online and a number of tweets in which she unlawfully accused Ms Moran of scamming money along with harming sex workers for profit.

In one tweet Ms Dalton said about Ms Moran: "She is a liar, a bitch and a bully and she was never even a sex worker."

Underfire porn firm have adult movies banned

GRUMBLE giants PornHub have banned videos from the firm Girls Do Porn, over allegations they tricked women into making sex movies.

Last week, the owners and employees of Girls Do Porn were charged with federal sex trafficking counts.

Until earlier this week, Pornhub allowed Girls Do Porn to host dozens of videos on its platform – even after 22 women who appeared in the Girls Do Porn vids sued the firm for fraud, emotional distress damages, and misappropriation of their likeness.

Now Pornhub has removed Girls Do Porn's official page, as well as dozens of clips with millions of views.

Girls Do Porn's content has also been pulled from another site owned by Pornhub's parent firm.

That's right, Cabinet Minister Andrea Leadsom has inspired a four-page feature in your Midweek Sport.

Mrs Leadsom ensured all eyes were on her when she attended a Downing Street meeting in a colourful designer coat and a daring pair of knee-high boots.

The Business Secretary, 56, stepped out in a £1,247 Burberry trench coat and navy mini dress that matched the colour of her head-turning footwear.

She clutched an official red folder as she walked into No10 to see Prime Minister Boris Johnson.

After Theresa May's dramatic resignation from the top job following weeks of tension over Britain's EU withdrawal, commentators have noted Mrs Leadsom could be trying to take her place as the Cabinet's resident fashionista.

But she'll have to go a long way to beat some of these kinky boots...

Boyfriend is nicked after kidnap hell

TWO weeks of captivity and torture came to an end after a woman made a daring escape from the clutches of her deranged boyfriend.

Benjamin Foster, 33 (above), has now been charged with a list of crimes including kidnapping, domestic violence and two counts of assault.

Police said Foster was "trained in mixed martial arts" in an incident report.

His victim received a shaved head, seven broken ribs, two black eyes, and chemical burns from a cleaning agent which Foster forced her to eat over the course of 16 days.

Foster bound her wrists with zip ties and duct tape and choked her unconscious during the ordeal, police in Las Vegas said.

He also threatened to kill her while brandishing a knife and handgun.

The two were in a two-year relationship prior to the incident.

SHERIFF'S INMATE

EVIL NAILED: Goudeau and (left) the ski mask he wore which bore DNA of his victims

MASK-wearing serial killer Mark Goudeau isn't just evil, to his many victims he's the Devil incarnate.

This muscle-bound brute channelled a psychotic rage to murder nine victims at random, shooting them in the head, while also raping scores of others.

It earned him the moniker The Baseline Killer.

Goudeau may claim he's no monster, but he's the very embodiment of one.

As he sits on Death Row awaiting his final day on Earth, this is his horrific story...

By JUSTIN DUNN news@sundaysport.co.uk

MARK Goudeau would have you believe he's a reformed man.

Yes, he might have beaten a woman half to death in 1989, but he went to prison, saw the error of his ways and emerged a better person on the other side.

He had become a family man, married to beloved wife Wendy Carr and holding down a respectable job.

Attempting to convince a jury of his innocence during his trial in November 2011, Goudeau made an impassioned plea, begging: "I'm no ravenous wolf. They've painted me out to be this monster, but I'm no monster.

"I just hope that one day you learn the truth."

But don't let him fool you. Goudeau hasn't changed one jot since his first brush with the law.

And while he cruelly maintains his innocence, in the face of damning and unequivocal DNA evidence, he's still inflicting pain and suffering on those who survived his wrath.

This was a man born into a lower middle class family in Phoenix, Arizona, in 1964 surrounded by a loving family. He should have done well for himself.

Instead Goudeau, now 55, dropped out of college and began to enjoy drink and drugs.

By the 1980s he'd become an armed robber.

And the first hint of what he was really capable of came in 1982, when a Phoenix police report reveals allegations made by a female that he and his old brother Michael raped her repeatedly at their home.

Nickname

This official document states that the woman in question refused to press charges and later left the Phoenix area entirely.

For seven years, Goudeau laid low. Then, in August 1989, police responded to calls of a man beating a woman with the butt of a shotgun in the street.

It was the first of many crimes to be perpetrated by Goudeau on Baseline Road in South Phoenix, hence his later nickname The Baseline Killer.

Officers attended and found a woman naked from the waist down, blood gushing from her head. She'd suffered a fractured skull and deep lacerations all over her body.

A court officer wrote of her encounter: "She felt she was in a room with the devil."

Goudeau somehow dodged a rape charge and instead pleaded no contest to three counts of aggravated assault.

Yet before he'd even been sentenced for that crime he'd robbed a supermarket at gunpoint.

Eventually, in August 1990, Goudeau was sentenced to 15 years in prison for the assaults and 21 years for the violent robbery.

He should have been behind bars for decades. Yet, after just 13 years as a "model prisoner", he was paroled in 2004 by the Arizona Executive Clemency Board.

Just 12 months later, Goudeau embarked on his sickening 12-month spree.

On August 6, 2005, while working on a building site, Goudeau forced three teenage girls behind a church and molested two of them. Another abduction and rape followed two weeks later.

Then he committed his first murder.

Skull

Pretty 19-year-old exotic dancer Georgia Thompson was found on her back in a car park on September 8, 2005.

She'd been shot in the back of the head, the gun pressed so hard into her skull that it had left a vivid bruise.

More sex attacks followed, one particularly heinous.

On September 20, two sisters – one pregnant – were approached by a gun-wielding Goudeau as they relaxed in a park.

He raped one of the girls while pointing his gun at her sibling's unborn child.

By November 2005, cops were investigating a further flurry of sexual assaults and armed robberies, all perpetrated

MONSTERS OF DEATH ROW
THE WORLD'S MOST EVIL MURDERERS AND THE HORRIFIC CRIMES THAT SAW THEM SENTENCED TO DEATH...

STANDING BY HIM: Goudeau with loving wife Wendy

PHOENIX POLICE

TIMES UP: Police raid Goudeau's home

by the same dreadlocked man wearing a floppy fisherman's hat.

By December, he'd claimed another murder victim in the form of nursery school worker Tina Washington, 39.

She was shot twice in the back of the head at close range.

In February 2006, he struck again, this time slaying snack truck workers Romelia Vargas, 38, and Mirna Palma-Roman, 34.

Both women, devoted mothers and described by their customers as "the nicest girls you could ever meet", had been gunned down at random.

Goudeau committed a further double murder in March 2006.

Liliana Sanchez-Cabrera, 20, and Chao Chou, 23, were making their way home after a shift at the popular Yoshi's restaurant.

They never arrived.

Liliana was shot in the head in a car park while resisting Goudeau's advances, while Chao's body was found a mile away.

Liliana's grieving mother, Juana, recently admitted that she still struggles to have a single happy thought in the wake of her child's death.

She said: "I used to, but I don't any more. Everything is different. It's very difficult to keep on living."

At the end of March, a businessman investigated a "terrible odour" coming from the back of a row of shops.

Decomposed

What he found will haunt him for the rest of his life.

He stumbled upon the badly decomposed body of Kristin Gibbons, 26. Like all the others, she'd been shot in the head.

In April came another harrowing murder. Gilbert Martinez was just eight years old when he got home from school to find his mother, Sophia Nunez, 37, lying dead from gunshot wounds in the bath.

He dragged her out of the red water and tried CPR but it was no use.

Speaking in 2013, the 17-year-old Gilbert, who's plagued by nightmares, said: "Everything was locked except the garage. That's how I got in.

"I went in and heard the bathtub running. I thought she was taking a shower. I eventually found her.

"No-one knows how I feel about it. No-one has experienced that at such a young age."

In May 2006, one unnamed woman had a miraculous escape.

She was bundled into her own car by Goudeau and, with a gun to her face, ordered to perform oral sex on him.

She said: "I realised I was going to die, so I said, 'Go ahead and kill me'.

"He said he was going to blow my brains out and my parents would read about it in the newspaper the next day.

"He pulled the trigger and there was a clinking noise. I realised I wasn't dead, so I got out of my vehicle and ran."

The gun had misfired.

But Goudeau had one final flourish – the murder of 37-year-old Carmen Miranda, who was about to clean her vehicle at a car wash.

Breasts

She was shot in the forehead, her body left sprawled in the back seat, her eyes wide open.

In September 2006, Goudeau was finally arrested.

The breakthrough in the case came with the two sisters attacked in the park. DNA found on one of their breasts was matched with that on Goudeau's crime record.

On searching his apartment, officers found a ski mask he'd worn during some of the attacks, as well as jewellery belonging to some of his victims. The ski mask also contained DNA from his victims.

In 2007, Maricopa County Superior Court found Goudeau guilty on 19 charges of rape and sexual assault, sentencing him to 438 years in prison.

It took four years for his murder trial to come to court, but in November 2011, Goudeau was given nine death sentences for his gruesome killings.

Yet, despite all the overwhelming evidence of his wrongdoing, Goudeau filed an appeal against his convictions in October last year, saying police had simply got the wrong guy.

His wife Wendy also appears to have bought into this lie.

She said: "I see Mark on TV and I can't believe it. I see him in court and I can't believe it.

"He's been made a scapegoat. I see an innocent person who was served up on a silver platter.

"He's not changed during his time in prison. He's still the same strong person I've known all these years.

"A death sentence is final, but this is not the end. I see appeals.

"I'm not in denial. This is a case of mistaken identity. The injustice of it all is what keeps me going."

THE HIP-HOP HITMAN KILLED 12

PERVERT WALKED 351 MILES TO TOUCH TEEN GIRL

BEGGED FOR SEX: Jenkins

A NONCE was arrested for trying to have sex with a 14-year-old girl – after walking 351 miles to meet her.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Convicted paedophile Tommy Lee Jenkins, 32, began an X-rated instant-message exchange in Wisconsin with the teen called "Kylee" – who was in reality a sheriff's deputy.

Jenkins asked her for sexually explicit photos while begging her to meet him for sex in Whitestown, Indiana, where he lived.

When she refused, he set off on FOOT to where she supposedly lived in Neenah, Wisconsin – 351 miles away.

Explicit

As he trudged, he sent her explicit messages and updated her on the progress of his hike, prosecutors said.

But his mammoth trek ended with a surprise – as sheriff's deputies and an FBI agent were waiting to nick him.

Jenkins was charged with using a computer to attempt to persuade, induce or entice a minor to engage in unlawful sexual activity.

His messages to 'Kylee" included telling her he wanted them to have 500 kids together, including one within a year.

US lawyer Matthew Krueger said: "Our nation is facing an epidemic of child sexual abuse.

"The Internet makes it too easy for predators to communicate with children across the country."

lucy ANNE

LOVELY Lucy Anne Brookes is a bizarre bird – because she loves the weather getting COLDER.

The 26-year-old, from Ealing and west London, said: "I know it's strange but I love the approach of winter.

"You get to come in out of the cold and warm up in front of the fire – maybe with a glass of something warming."

The 32D beauty added with a glint in the eye: "And autumn is when it gets more tempting to spend more time in bed.

"And I love bedtime – if you know what I mean..."

BROTHEL BOSS TRICKED TRAINEE HOOKERS INTO SEX

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A BROTHEL owner told aspiring workers they had to perform sex acts on him to prove they could do the job, a court heard.

Bradley Grey, 54, allegedly told nine women they needed to complete “training” as they were new to the industry and needed to know what clients expected.

Grey pleaded not guilty to 16 counts of rape, 10 charges of committing acts of indecency, and one of attempted rape.

The court heard the nine women had needed money and saw online ads promising they could earn thousands of dollars each week for sex work.

Massaging

The women contacted and then met Grey. He allegedly took pictures and created online profiles for them to advertise their services.

But he also allegedly told them he needed to train them for the job – which allegedly included massaging and engaging in sexual acts with him, sometimes without condoms.

The prosecution told jurors that the women needed the money and felt they had to comply to get the job, which negated their consent. They worked for Grey afterwards.

RAPE CHARGES: Cuffed Grey is led into court

Prosecutor Trent Hickey said the women did not consent to the sexual acts or that consent had been negated by false representations that the sexual acts had been required as a job application.

“The law says consent that is negated is no consent at all,” Mr Hickey told the court in Canberra, Australia.

Mr Hickey said the accused had a tendency to tell new workers he had to give them training in order to obtain sexual gratification.

Defence barrister Beth Morrisroe told the jury the issues to be decided at law were what happened and whether consent had been obtained.

The trial continues.

13 cops gunned down in ambush

AT least 13 police officers have been killed and nine others wounded in an ambush by gunmen.

The attack took place in Michoacan, Mexico, where violence attributed to drug cartels has spiked in recent months.

The state police officers had gone to a home in the town of El Aguaje to enforce a judicial order when “several armed civilians fired on them”.

Governor Silvano Aureoles said: “No attack on the police will go unpunished, and this was a cowardly, devious one as they laid an ambush.”

After the attack, the area was reinforced by federal and state security forces, who set up checkpoints to try and find the attackers.

BURGLAR NABBED IN BRA AND PANTS

A HOUSEHOLDER was stunned to find a suspected male burglar, dressed in only a BRA and PANTIES, rummaging through his home.

When confronted, the suspect fled the property – jumping fences and running through several back gardens.

Police dog handlers eventually found the man, who was now naked, and arrested him.

Police released a security camera image (left) of the man found in a Sacramento home wearing just a blue bra and lacy red knickers.

Officers did not identify the suspect, but said he was a parolee who was booked on charges that include burglary, prowling and trespass.

A police source in El Dorado County, Californis, said: “This used to be a pretty decent neighbourhood – now it’s crawling with transvestites and other perverts.”

Snakes in loo leave woman shit scared!

A WOMAN got the fright of her life when she came across a SNAKE in her bathroom toilet.

And she freaked out even more when she found ANOTHER snake in her other bathroom the next day.

Nicole Errey said: “I came in from work, went into the bathroom and my toilet lid was open – I looked and there was this dark thing in the toilet.

“The snake just stuck its head out.”

She called snake pest controller Dave Walton who removed it from the bathroom.

The following day, Nicole discovered another snake in the other bathroom loo.

“I looked in and went ‘ Oh, you got to be kidding me!’,” she said at her home in Cairns, Australia.

Mr Walton removed that one before writing on Facebook: “Two nights in a row I have been called to a snake in the same toilet.

“Each time it’s been a water python. But never two in two days at the same address.”

Fact me!

UNITED States President James Garfield’s favourite meal was squirrel soup.

Deaf mute strangled and raped widow

A DEAF mute has been arrested after admitting throttling a woman to death before having sex with her corpse.

The 40-year-old is further accused of then dumping the woman’s body in a sugarcane field in Hyderabad, in the Lakhimpur Kheri district of India.

Police said the victim, who was 45, had been strangled to death and then raped.

The widow had gone missing after withdrawing money from her bank account.

During their investigation, police said the name “Gangaram” kept cropping up – the name of a deaf mute man who lived in a neighbouring village.

Indicating through specially trained officers, he admitted murdering and raping the woman.

SPUNK-HUNGRY MEGA MILF SHAGGED HER SON’S SCHOOLPALS

ORAL SEX CHARGE: Amalia Utz ‘held parties to bonk lads’

A BLONDE mega-MILF has been nicked for shagging two 14-year-old lads after plying them with booze and drugs.

Amalia Utz, 47, is charged with committing lewd or lascivious acts and of having oral sex with minors under the age of 16, according to a statement released by cops.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

School boss Tony Knight sent a letter to parents stating that the mother of another student at the school was accused of providing drugs and alcohol to at least “two minor boys” and of engaging in sexual activity with them.

Tips

Knight said officials learned of the crimes from other students who came forward to school administrators.

They also received tips via the district’s Report It tool, which allows students and parents to submit crime tips anonymously.

Knight said: “This information was immediately turned over to county authorities and we have since been co-operating with them in the investigation. It is possible more than two students were involved.”

According to cops, cock-crazed Utz’s home is “well-known” to law enforcement.

A statement from local police noted: “Calls for our service included juvenile disturbances, runaways, juveniles in possession of and smoking marijuana, high-school-age parties, and alcohol being given to minors by Utz.”

Det Darin Yanover said spunk-hungry Utz met her victims through her own teen son who also attends Medea Creek Middle School in Oak Park, California.

Zoe confirmed in new Batman movie

ACTRESS Zoe Kravitz is looking certain to be the latest to play Catwoman in a Batman film.

Zoe, 30, is set to star opposite British actor Robert Pattinson, who will play the Dark Knight in director Matt Reeves’ The Batman.

She was congratulated on bagging the coveted role – once played by Halle Berry (left) – by Aquaman star Jason Momoa, who’s married to her mother, Lisa Bonet.

He posted a picture of the pair together, saying he was “so proud” of Zoe and that he is “so freaking stoked”.

He added: “Your going to have so much fun.”

Seemingly confirming the news, Big Little Lies star Zoe commented on the post, writing: “LOVE YOU PAPABEAR! love that aquaman and catwoman spend the holidays together from now on.”

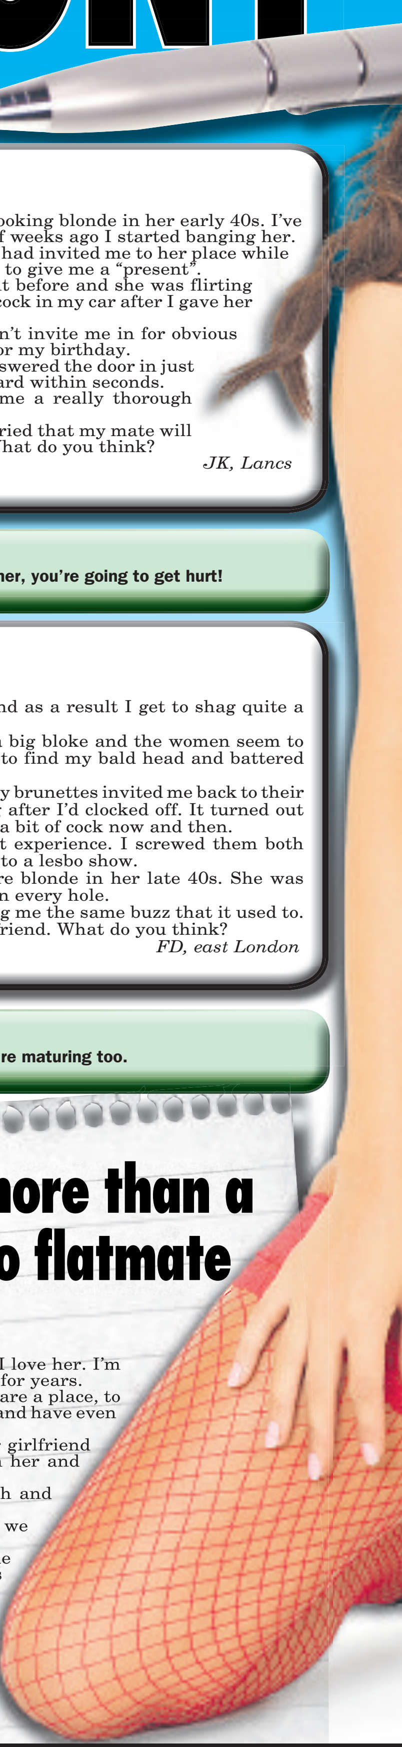
THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page



Dear Kelly,

MY mate's mum is a really great-looking blonde in her early 40s. I've fancied her for ages and a couple of weeks ago I started banging her.

It was my 19th birthday and she had invited me to her place while my mate and his dad were at work to give me a "present".

I'd been chatting to her the night before and she was flirting with me and ended up sucking my cock in my car after I gave her a lift home.

She told me then that she couldn't invite me in for obvious reasons, but she did have a treat for my birthday.

Bloody hell, did she! After she answered the door in just stockings and suspenders, I was hard within seconds.

We went to bed and she gave me a really thorough sexual education.

The only problem is that I'm worried that my mate will find out, not to mention his dad. What do you think?

JK, Lancs

Kelly says...

ONE way or another, you're going to get hurt!

Dear Kelly,

I WORK as a nightclub bouncer and as a result I get to shag quite a few fit babes.

As you might expect, I'm quite a big bloke and the women seem to like my physique. They also seem to find my bald head and battered face an attraction.

Just last week a couple of very tidy brunettes invited me back to their place at about four in the morning after I'd clocked off. It turned out that they were lesbians who enjoy a bit of cock now and then.

It turned out to be a truly great experience. I screwed them both several times and they treated me to a lesbo show.

The next night I pulled a mature blonde in her late 40s. She was brilliant in bed and let me do her in every hole.

But all this casual sex isn't giving me the same buzz that it used to. Maybe I should find a regular girlfriend. What do you think?

FD, east London

Kelly says...

SOUNDS like you're maturing too.

I want to be more than a pal to my lesbo flatmate

Dear Kelly,

MY flatmate is a lesbian and I think I love her. I'm a 22-year-old guy and I've known her for years.

We work together and decided to share a place, to save money. We've always got on well and have even had sex several times, too.

Once she'd just broken up with her girlfriend and was a bit upset. I went down on her and licked her quim.

And she took my cock in her mouth and gave me a really brilliant blowjob.

Then I shagged her from behind and we both had terrific orgasms together.

But a couple of nights later she brought another girl back and she's been seeing her ever since.

Now I'm devastated. What should I do?

RD, south Yorkshire

Kelly says...

WAIT until they split up and give your pal a shoulder to cry on again. Or move out.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week KELLY McGREGOR has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Threesome solved problem of wanting girl's stunning pal

Dear Kelly,

MY girlfriend's best mate is a really gorgeous babe with a sensational body.

I ought to say straight out that my bird isn't too bad – in fact she can be quite a looker when she's standing next to most ordinary people.

But she pales in comparison with her friend.

Me and my girlfriend have been going out for four months now and when her mate's not around it's usually better for me because I don't spend all my time fretting about what I've missed out on.

Difficult

Anyway, it was all getting a bit difficult as I was starting to get obsessed about the other girl.

It wasn't really a logical thing to do, but I decided that I didn't want to see her mate again so I told my bird that she'd hit on me.

My girl went mad, as you might expect, and I wondered if I hadn't made a serious gaffe.

But then my girl said that she had a solution to our problem – a threesome!

She got more and more excited as she told me that it was a big fantasy of hers.

Naturally, I was more than happy to agree to her request.

I thought I'd died and gone to heaven the night we all stripped off and slipped into bed.

My bird kicked things off, snogging her gorgeous pal and then licking her nipples while caressing her fanny.

Her friend responded by parting my girl's legs and licking her intimately.

When I got the nod I wasted no time boning them both, losing my mess several times.

They then sucked me off and I exploded all over their faces.

We now have regular threesomes. I never stay floppy for long because as soon as they start having sex with each other I'm ready to go again.

How lucky am I!

MJ, Wiltshire

Kelly says...

KEEP enjoying the threesomes!

Dear Kelly,

MY boyfriend has recently grown a bushy hipster beard and although he looks like a tramp, it is pure heaven when he goes down on me.

I love the feeling of his bristles on my inner thighs as he laps away at my sopping wet fanny.

And I can't get enough of his tongue on my clit.

I'm having some of the best orgasms of my life.

But it's nagging away at me that he's still a public embarrassment.

What should I do?

PJ, south Wales

Kelly says...

EASY, just keep him indoors!

Sneaky brother boned my babe

Dear Kelly,

I RECENTLY got back from six months touring the world and I'd really been looking forward to seeing my hot blonde girlfriend again.

But when we got together, it was clear that something wasn't as it used to be.

Then I got a surprise when my younger brother called to her place for a brew and he seemed very sure of himself around her house.

Then I caught them at it through the kitchen window when I got back from the shops one day.

She was bent over the ironing board as he was shafting her from behind and I could hardly believe my eyes as I watched him sliding in and out of her snatch.

Then she turned round before sinking to her knees and taking his cock in her mouth.

Yelled

She sucked on him greedily, taking his full length deep into her throat, and then got down on all fours so he could give it to her doggy-style.

I was amazed when she yelled in ecstasy as she climaxed and my brother shot his hot spunk over her arse-cheeks.

I gave them a few minutes to get dressed before walking in.

They pretended that nothing had gone on and I felt insulted that two people so close to me could be so fking mean to me.

What can I do to try to resolve this?

GD, Sussex

Kelly says...

NOT a lot. Let her go.

Dear Kelly,

I WENT out with my mates a few weeks ago and in the course of a drunken night I felt myself getting hornier and hornier.

I have a girlfriend, but I put her to the back of my mind as I danced with a cracking brunette babe.

In the end, she asked me to take her home. It was obvious she was after a shag – and I must say I was raring to give her one.

The problem came when we had both stripped off and dived into bed.

I spent ages giving her oral and she later did the same for me.

But nothing she could do with her tongue or hand could raise my dick.

She was understanding about it, but at the back of my mind I felt unable to do the business because I was thinking deep down about my current girlfriend.

Anyway, we agreed to meet the next night at her place.

It was so different. I had a raging stalk-on from the moment I walked in and shagged her senseless for hours.

Now we've been at it like rabbits for the past few weeks.

I don't know what happened to change things, but she's a great girl and now I'm torn between my girlfriend and this stunna.

What can I do?

KW, Newcastle

Kelly says...

GO with your gut feeeling.

#MY SEX FANTASY

...WITH KERRIE LEE, 23
30H-21-28
FROM HARLOW, ESSEX

MY naughty sex fantasy is having a very dirty, highly charged encounter with an enemy.

Maybe a spy or a dangerous assassin.

Maybe I've watched too much Killing Eve!

In my fantasy, my enemy assasin/spy is tied up and I have to tease him and edge him close to orgasm then stop abruptly, switch to inflicting a little pain, and he's not allowed to cum until he tells me the information I want.

Power games are very sexy – I love the element of excitement and danger!

I fantasise that he breaks free and manages to tie me up, and works the same pleasure-torture routine on me.

Of course at one point we're both free and it's a fight for dominance, and as we wrestle we get carried away and make out until we both climax again and again!

CLAIRE LENG

By REX ROWLANDS
rex@sundaysport.co.uk

STUNNING Claire Leng could have been a professional ballet dancer but gave up her tutu and slippers to make a living getting her kit off.

Now, 39, back in the 90s and early noughties Claire was a regular in the Sunday Sport, where readers were very taken with the sight of her pert 34C boobies.

She also stripped naked and posed for full-on girl-girl photoshoots and appeared totally in the nuddy for an Italian edition of Playboy magazine.

But her ballet training didn't go to wast as Claire was a regular on the stage at Stringfellows club, where she stripped and danced for a host of celebrities.

She also indulged in explicit American-strength held-open shots, which were a hit with fans, and copies of the mags she appeared in are now being traded online for up to £20-a-pop.

ROISIN HUNTER

LOCKSMITH James Warner has a dream job – finding the key to Roisin Hunter's private box!

The 45-year-old often gets people out of a mess in hometown Keele, Staffordshire, but it's 29-year-old Roisin he really wants to unlock.

Roisin boasts a 30D rack and the Islington-born stunna has a thumb in her tiny knickers to give a sneak peek of her lady parts in this sexy shot.

James said: "I've got a very stiff rod, which I think could be the solution to prising her open!"

CAMILLA QUANCE

AUTHOR Gavin Potter is suffering from writer's block and reckons a saucy snap of Camilla Quance will get his juices flowing again.

Gavin, 39, from Dundee, is currently penning his first fantasy novel and reckons 28-year-old Epping beauty Camilla is the key to his creativity.

He said: "I'm stuck for ideas so I need something to kick-start me. Trust me, a wee look at Camilla's 34G's will do just that.

"One look at them and my creative juices will be flowing out all over my pages and I'll have a bestseller before you know it."

NATALIA PHILLIPS

PRISON officer Paul Jackson caught an eyeful of Natalia Phillips in one of his inmates' cells and has been obsessed with her ever since.

Paul, 43, from Greenwich, SE London, can't get enough of the 29-year-old babe, from neighbouring Bromley.

The guard caught a glimpse of her 32C boobs during a routine check of the prison cells and now wants his own topless snap of the beauty.

He said: "She's a real stunna. I'd love to get my very own photo of her so I don't keep having to check that cell – I only check it to ogle Natalia!"

OFFICE PERVERTS 8

THIS great series will appeal to any of us guys who've dreamed of getting off with the sexy secretary or stern office manager!

First up: Katie and her office boyfriend always take their break together but this time her boss decides it's time she spends in the office for some penis training.

Then, tough boss Alexis catches her employee planning a party so she invites herself...onto the end of his c.

Jada confesses a secret crush on the HR guy and soon there's nothing either healthy not safe about what he's doing to her bum 'ole.

Jessica knows all about motivating her salesmen...the dirty girl rewards good work with tight minge.

BIG PRICE: Barkley

ENGLAND 5/1 FOR EURO WIN

ENGLAND moved within a point of qualification for next summer's Euro 2020 after an emphatic 6-0 first set success on a night of shame for football in Sofia on Monday evening.

The Three Lions remain 5/1 to win the tournament at BetVictor with World Champions France 4/1 market leaders despite being held to a 1-1 draw in Paris by Turkey earlier in the week.

Several of England's squad for the 2020 European Championships pick themselves with Harry Kane, Raheem Sterling, Jordan Henderson, Jordan Pickford and Harry Maguire absolute certainties if they are fit although you can still back the Liverpool captain at 2/7 with BetVictor which seems huge.

But where is the value for some of the "fringe" players to make the squad?

Ross Barkley is 5/6 (from 6/4) at BetVictor and that is surely too big after his brace in Bulgaria although I appreciate, he has not established himself as a regular in the Chelsea starting XI. I remember watching the under 21s in their European Finals in the summer and thinking Tammy Abraham (4/6) might be the real deal and that Phil Foden was a different class to the rest.

When you think Eric Dier – who has gone backwards in the last two years – is 2/1 and Fabian Delph 4s to make the squad then the 5/2 at BetVictor for Foden to be on the plane to Budapest/Copenhagen/Amsterdam/Munich/Dublin etc – must be too big.

By the way the draw for the finals of Euro 2020 will be made in Dublin on the 2nd December even though the last four nations to make the finals – courtesy of the 2018/19 Nations League – will not be known until the play-offs in March 2020. Do keep up!

Options

Foden will be 20 years of age by the time the finals begin, and I expect him to get more and more playing time for City as he continues to mature. It is widely reported how highly Pep Guardiola rates the young midfielder and I expect the City manager and Three Lions boss Gareth Southgate to give this rare and exciting talent his head in the second half of the season.

The next recommendation is Aston Villa's Tyrone Mings who is surely overpriced at 7/4 with BetVictor. Mings played well – albeit against a poor Bulgaria side – on debut on Monday and a left-footed centre-back gives Southgate more options especially if he wants to revert to a back-three. Mings has made an excellent start to the PL season and I am surprised the Villa defender is a bigger price than John Stones (1/3), Joe Gomez (1/2) and Michael Keane (5/4).

Harry Winks is 6/4 – Declan Rice 4/7 – to make the squad at BetVictor and the Spurs midfielder was another to impress in Sofia. One could argue there is only room for one of Winks or Foden, but I believe both could make the squad although Rice – who was singularly unimpressive in Prague – would have to miss out.

MAIN MAN AT THE KOP: Klopp is more important than the players

We have to Kop Premier crown

LIVERPOOL CHIEF SAYS NOTHING ELSE MATTERS

By PAUL THOMAS

LIVERPOOL have to win the Premier League to be considered successful again.

That's the view of chief executive Peter Moore as the club's American owners approach 10 years at the helm.

The Reds won the Champions League last season and were pipped to the top-flight crown by Manchester City.

Jurgen Klopp's men would have won the Premier League 25 times in its' 27-year history with their tally of 97 points.

Liverpool are the only team with a 100% record this season and sit eight points clear of City after the international break. Moore knows that the Kopites are happy with lifting "Old Big Ears" but what they really want is to end a 30-year wait for a title.

He said: "That is what our fans want.

"We were so close last year, 97 points, and in any other year we would have won the title.

"But the club goes on and I think a title for many of our fans, would sit alongside our Champions League triumph as the barometer of success.

"As a club off the pitch we have a set of visions, missions and values and at the top of that sits supporting the team to 'win trophies'.

"Two words, because ultimately that is what our fans want and that is what we need to deliver."

Moore believes the club is steering the right course to win that first title since 1990.

Care

There has been a lot of talk among the fans of getting back on the "perch" they were knocked off by Sir Alex Ferguson and Manchester United more than 20 years ago.

But those at the Anfield helm say they aren't looking at any club other than Liverpool. They claim not to care what United, City or anyone else are doing.

Moore added: "We feel good about the club in its entirety and we don't compare ourselves with any other football club."

And Moore has no doubt who the key man on the staff is.

He boomed: "What Liverpool had to do was bring in a world-class manager, which we have, bring in a world-class squad, which we have, play exciting football, bring in players that are going to draw crowds no matter where they go.

"It all sets us up for success going forward. It is not a question of us comparing ourselves versus another club."

THROW BOOK AT RACISTS

Kane calls for action after Sofia

ENGLAND skipper Harry Kane wants UEFA to take much stronger action against racists.

He was talking after the referee had to suspend the Three Lions clash against Bulgaria in Sofia twice because of monkey chants aimed at the black players on the pitch.

England won the match 6-0 to almost guarantee their place in the Euro 2020 finals. But that was totally overshadowed by events in the stands.

By JOHN ANTHONY

As it stands now, the UEFA protocol states that the fans are given three chances to stop the abuse before the game is abandoned.

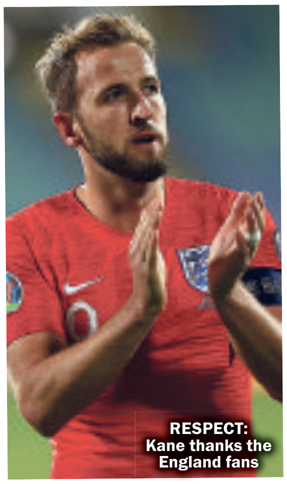
Kane is not sure the racists should be given that chance and would prefer to see action taken more quickly.

He said: "Whether the UEFA protocol is strong enough, I am not sure.

"Whether any racial abuse should be allowed at any time, it shouldn't be.

"The protocol at the moment allows there to be an announcement and two or three steps before the players are taken off the pitch.

"It is unacceptable to be racist once so I feel there can be stronger punishments and protocols but from our point of view as a team, we stuck together, showed unity and did what we had to and that is the most important thing."



RESPECT: Kane thanks the England fans

It was revealed after the match that the players at half-time discussed not coming out for the second period.

Kane is happy that England did come out for the final 45 minutes and played so well in Sofia.

He added: "I'm definitely proud of my team-mates and my friends and everyone involved with our nation.

"It wasn't easy for anyone, we made a decision as a team to carry on playing, you saw us come together before half-time and we said we would play until half-time, get together and decide what we wanted to do.

"Everyone wanted to carry on and do their talking on the pitch, which I am extremely proud of.

Character

"It is not easy to play in circumstances like that but the 6-0 victory and the way we played, the manner in which we played I'm extremely proud of for sure.

"There was a discussion in the changing room and everyone wanted to carry on playing. If there were players who didn't we wouldn't have come back out and played.

"That shows the maturity and the character that everyone wanted to come back out and play."

Several England players took to Twitter to voice their disgust at what happened in Sofia.

Vice-captain Jordan Henderson said: "Absolutely disgusted to have witnessed the behaviour of some of the crowd but so proud of every single one of our players and staff.

"We stand together. Thanks to all of our travelling fans for your support."

MINGS TARGETED IN WARM-UP

TYRONE Mings says the racist abuse in Bulgaria started well before the match kicked off.

By ANDY MILLOM

The Aston Villa centre-back was one of the main targets for the monkey chants in Sofia.

He, along with Raheem Sterling and Marcus Rashford, bore the brunt of the abuse.

When the game kicked off Mings made his feelings clear to the assistant referee and action was taken.

He said: "I heard it before I even got to the other side of the pitch for the warm up.

"We then spoke about it when we came in after the warm up and, obviously, I don't need to spell it out.

"I think everybody heard the chants, but we stood together and we made certain decisions.

"Just before half-time we were contemplating coming off the pitch because that was the next step after a stadium announcement but there were a couple of minutes to go to half-time.

"So we thought we'd play the couple of minutes, go into half-time and talk about it then which we did and we made a collective decision to keep playing.

"Everyone was happy to continue, everyone was happy to see if things improved in the second half.

"I think it was important that we allowed the correct protocol to be followed and things were better in the second half."

Mings is adamant that the abuse didn't put him off. And he added that he had never been targeted for such chants at any point in his career. He added: "It did not affect my feelings one bit. I felt a bit sorry for the people that have these views.

"I feel it is not a reflection of the views of the whole country and I feel that the appropriate steps were taken.

"It didn't affect my feeling but I was aware that we had to follow the right protocols, and not think it does not affect me so I won't report it.

"I have a duty to people that don't have a voice or that perhaps are abused and it does hurt or get to them."

Billy back to take on Wallabies in quarters

RUGBY WORLD CUP

BILLY Vunipola looks set to return for England in their World Cup quarter-final against Australia.

Coach Eddie Jones will be thrilled to have one of his biggest stars back for Saturday's showdown.

The No8 has been out with an ankle injury picked up in the win against Argentina last week.

He would have missed the final pool game against France but that was called off due to Super Typhoon Hagibis sweeping across Japan.

Jones will name his starting 15 for the match on Thursday and Vunipola is expected to keep his record of playing in all 12 competitive England matches this year.

Defence coach John Mitchell said: "Billy is progressing really well.

"He has trained again today and we are very confident in his progression each day. He's very likely to be fit.

"Billy is a very important player to us and a very likeable player as well. He fits well within the team.

Injuries

"He loves the ball in his hand. He is very good at regaining and retaining momentum. He likes carrying the ball which is where he has his greatest influence."

The news about wing Jack Nowell is less positive and he's likely to sit it out against the Wallabies.

England have a ready replacement in Jonathan Joseph who is set to be named on the bench.

Nowell has had a run of injuries and had only just got over an ankle injury before pulling his hamstring against Argentina.

He has missed training since then and will have to wait for the semis to play again.

Mitchell added: "Jack wasn't at training. He is on another prescription of training and is also progressing."

And the backs coach knows he has a tall order in stopping the Aussies.

He said: "Australia are a very clever football team. They are always clever and always have the ability to surprise.

"They love ball in their hands, which is something they thrive on. They have always been highly intellectual in the way that they play and that is something that I respect."

UNITED BAK RAK

Ivan the great for Solskjaer

QUALITY: Rakitic

By JOHN ANTHONY

MANCHESTER United are lining up a January move for Ivan Rakitic.

The Barcelona midfielder is struggling to get picked at the Nou Camp since Frenkie De Jong arrived from Ajax last summer.

The 31-year-old is looking to leave the Catalans and they would be prepared to take around £30m for the playmaker.

Inter Milan are also interested which could push up that fee.

Rakitic has started just one game this season and said: "There is no better place to play than Barcelona, but I want to play and not enjoy walking around the city and enjoying the sea."
